GORTON'S MINSTRELS TONIGHT

Gorton's famous New Orleans Minstrels arrived in town yesterday in their private car and stayed over till tonight. They will give a performance at the opera house tonight, which will be the last minstrel of the season, and probably the last attraction. The company gave a street parade about noon, which was exceptionally good and a foretaste of what may be expected tonight. The admission is very modest, only 75 cents for reserved seats and 50 cents general admission. Gorton's Minstrels comprise one of the finest organizations of minstrelsy on the road, and everyone should see them tonight.

GAINESVILLE HAS A FIRE

Capt. Strobhar's Residence and the Plaza Hotel Burned—Heavy Loss to All Parties

Saturday noon a fire was discovered in Captain N. J. Strobhar's residence adjoining and connected with the Plaza hotel, by a boarder who chanced to look out the window and made the discovery. Mr. Strobhar's family were at dinner. The alarm was given, but a series of mishaps followed. First no water could be had and afterwards when they did get it the pressure was so great it burst the water main, causing delay that evidently destroyed the residence, the Plaza and several other residences. The total loss was very heavy.

Mr. Strobhar's house was valued at $5,000, and furniture and furnishings at $5,000, among them the finest paintings in Gainesville. Insurance on both amounted to $25,000. The family only saved the clothing on their backs. The Plaza hotel was valued at $7,000 and was insured for $3,000. Mr. Irvine, the new proprietor from Atlanta, had just taken charge, had put several hundred dollars of supplies in the hotel the morning of the fire.

The Star regrets to hear of the destruction of the devouring flames and extends condolence to all, especially to Mr. Strobhar, who was a former resident of Ocala and has many friends here.

The firemen did noble service, but lack of water was the trouble. Mr. Strobhar had $500 of the Plant System money in his safe and $110 belonging to his wife, which also went up in smoke.

AT THE OCALA HOUSE

A Tale From the Tatler—Golfing the Globes—Blackbirds and Boreas

It is not an uncommon thing for an amateur golfer to appear at the office of the Ocala House, and in subdued tone of voice, without raising his eyes from the carefully manicured nails, remark, "Mr. Clerk, you can charge seventy seventy with an electric light globe." "Was it hanging too low?" asks the obliging clerk. "Well, no; though I may as well say yes to you, see? I was practicing the upward swing of my club after hitting an imaginary ball on the floor, when there was a crash, and the flying particles of glass against floor and ceiling warned me that I was not at the right tee."

Golf continues to be the chief occupation, and the instructor is kept busy all day long. Mr. F. G. Bright, of Toronto, Canada, remarked while viewing the broad expanse of undulating fields: "I fancy one will have to travel over a good bit of country to find anything in the way of golf more attractive than this."

The warm sun induced Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Curtis, of Roxbury, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Waldorf, of Toledo, Ohio, to take the pleasure launch at Silver Springs. The trip was one of joy and pleasure from start to finish. Three alligators were seen, much to the delight of all. One measured at least twelve feet.

A few mornings ago, four and forty blackbirds alighted in the attractive park of the Ocala House, squeaking their wild "Ler-lee! ler-lee!" The tender fern fronds peeped from their beds and the tall banana stalk unfurled its accordion-plaited banner of burnished green, to greet the approach of spring.

But old Jack Frost swooped down as mercilessly and unexpectedly as the Boer leader upon the British in South Africa. The blackbirds disappeared, the ferns have folded their heads under a cover of brown and the beautiful banana banner is tattered and torn by the cold west wind. Is it not strange that nature will bedeck herself in such beautiful array, then turn and destroy her own work?—St. Augustine Tatler.
